“ Happened upon this page today.....yes it has gotten easier,that is until I really start to think in detail about what it is I miss so much. It's football season and there isn't anything about football that doesnt remind me of you. You know it sounds crazy but that feeling I spoke about in the comments of aunt sherrills post below,the feeling of security I got at your home.....I can sometimes get that warm cozy feeling if the sounds of a Sunday night Cowboys game is on, or if wheel of fortune is on in the background,you were so good at that game lol.we always joked about you going on it. But those are the memories I hold so dear.I miss you guys.

“ I am Cathleen Deyo Henington Langer. I am the daughter of Brenda Barrowclaugh. I did not know of the passing of Bernie until today. I had a dream of Brenda and I thought it was so strange that Bernie was with her. My dreams are my way of communicating with passed loved one's. So I decided to do some research, and found his passing. Bernie was one hell of a man!! I loved him very much and he took such good care of Brenda, so it makes sense that he would follow her to the other side. I send my love and prayers for all of those that are left behind. Just know they are together and both have a big smile on their faces. Peace and love to you all.

Dear Dad, Here I am writing to you, hoping in some way that it will ease my emptiness and sorrow..I miss you Dad so much, I know you were devastated by losing Mom, so you went to join her..And I would never want to see you suffer like you were, but I just so sad and lonely for you and Mom..If you can in anyway have some knowledge of how I feel, or if you can still see us down here..Just know that I love you Dad, and If your with Mama please tell her That I'm okay, I guess its unbelievable how much pain you can endure and still live..days go by, and I think of something goofy, or football comes on, and the Waves of just total heartbreak hit me with the realization that your gone, You and Mama were all I had left..So its just me know, all alone..and I hate it..well, could write, and write maybe this will help with the grief, loneliness, and a million other emotions I have..there's know one to share my heart with, to grieve with..so I take day by day, alone...until I see you and Mom again...I love you Daddy, Love you Mama... Your loving Daughter always, Chami

Not a day goes by that I dont think of you guys. Especially during football season. A part of me still doesnt realize Im never going to see you again. Since I was a child you and grandma were my safe haven. When I was at your house I always had a sense of security. Away from the physical hurt and pain that came with me being home. With you nobody could hurt me. Even as an adult your home and company still brought that same feeling of serenity. But that safety net has been ripped off my head and that door that has always been opened slammed shut!!! I would give ANYTHING to have just one more day. One more day to show my appreciation and to tell you how much I care and miss you. To listen to grandma ramble on about when she was younger for an hour because her meds had kicked in lol!! But the one thing I keep repeating in my head is her sweet soft laugh. Grandpa you were one hell of a good example of a REAL man!! You have led such an admirable life and God must have broke the mold after he made you. You treated grandma like a queen and you would have done anything for her. Thanksgiving and Christmas were empty and all but meaningless with you. Its so sad but you guys were the last thing holding this family together. No more family get togethers for the holidays and Im sure that as time goes by we will all loose contact. (not that we had much contact to begin with) Im sure your with my mom and I can see you guys looking down on us. I just hope that I can make you guys proud. My biggest regret is that you didnt get to see the girls again and that they wont get to meet you. But just know How much I love you guys and admire you. my heart will always ache for you. Right now I know you are holding each other You had a life that was full of adventure traveling twists and turns and you experienced so many things. One thing is certain that while you were alive you definantely lived!!<3 u oh p.s. Looooooooooooove Bailey, and Molly ,but that friggin basset hound bark is going to drive me insane!!!!lol
