“ Title: Remembrance:
Christine Bernadette Ondevilla,
The purest soul of all I've ever met.

8/8/2019

*Bernadette, Bernadette, Your spirit is so pure,
That year I met you I could tell we were so similar.
I did not know how to reach out to you fully;
Both of our tales were cut short so abruptly.*

*2014 was the year that I could not accept the fact,
that I could no longer change the past.
I was regretting the time that I saw your lost gaze,
and did not have the courage to save both our grace.*

*Since that fateful moment I still could not cope,
For years to come I was lost without hope.
Reflecting back on when our paths converged,
Past, Present, Future;*

*It is all the same and our auras will never diverge.
I'm doing way better now that I can deal with the fact,
That all we needed to do was find each other
...but I've relapsed.*

*I cannot go back and change the faces of the clock,
But please just know now that you'll always be my rock.
Christine Bernadette Ondevilla, rest in peace for now,
Your spirit will live on forever in Past, Present, Future and about.*

“ We were so sorry to read about the loss of one so young. It is natural to have questions as to why we lose those we love. You can have faith that God has a plan for us to see our loved ones again on a paradise earth. The Bible promises that God “will wipe out every tear from their eyes, and death will be no more, neither will mourning nor outcry nor pain be anymore. The former things have passed away.” (Rev. 21:4) May “the God of all comfort” (2 Cor. 1:3) be with you at this time.
